First things first ...

- get a cup of tea/coffee (hot or iced) and some chocolate chip cookies ....

- And watch Kansas Libraries: You Belong Here and The Library Cheer for inspiration and to reenergize.

---

Peter Drucker has said that,

“Managers only get credit for two things: innovation and marketing.”

This handout is designed to be used with the Rural & Small Library Directors’ Tool Kit web site http://rurallibrarydirectors.pbworks.com

A [SUBJECT] designation below indicates the section where the document can be found in the Tool Kit.

- Determine to be the DIRECTOR of the library: are you NICE?
  - The director & staff must believe in and support the principles described in the Library Bill of Rights, Freedom to Read, Freedom to View, and Statement of Professional Ethics.
  - Keep handy access to the Rural & Small Library Directors’ Tool Kit
  - Purchase Introduction to Public Librarianship by Kathleen de la Fena McCook. 2nd ed. Neal-Schuman, 2011 for your work desk reference shelf.
  - Join the state library association.
  - Join the Association for Rural and Small Libraries http://arsl.info
  - Join United for Libraries http://www.al.org/united/about
  - If a member of ALA, subscribe to American Libraries Direct.
  - Think about how to to report on library’s community services: check PLA’s Project Outcome, designed to help public libraries measure and interpret their impact on the community. Read Project Outcome – Looking Back, Looking Forward and Moving Toward Outcomes.
  - Develop a process and information for an Annual Report - template in [FINANCES].

- Visit with library trustees and staff and Friends about the process: get them involved.
  - Purchase Trustees as Servants by Robert Greenleaf, 1991, for each board member.
  - Create a Teen Advisory Board and Establish a teen seat on the Board of Trustees (if allowed by local law - if not, establish an advisory position).

- Help establish and encourage a Friends of the Library group.

- Establish Customer Focus groups – survey on what inhibits service; how to improve service.
  - Change (extend) hours for more public accessibility.
  - Read The Community-Led Libraries Toolkit [MARKETING & PUBLIC RELATIONS],

- Visit with county/city manager and Chamber of Commerce director about life in the community:

  What’s happening in the community?

- Review the Community Stakeholders list in Understanding the Community [SERVING THE COMMUNITY] - choose 3 to 6 Stakeholders to visit first.
  - Read Value & Vision by Joey Rodger.
  - Visit leaders/groups you selected, particularly homeschoolers.
• DO NOT ask what the library could do for them or attempt to tell them what the library can do – this is a fact-finding conversation about what they are doing.

• Listen to find out:

  > What are they doing?
  > What kind of information do they need?

• Re-examine your list . . . then Let Your Imagination Wander [SERVICES & PROGRAMS].

• Identify what library support resources would be helpful for those leaders/groups.

• Prioritize the items on your list: do the top 3 in the next six months.

• Revisit those folks whose priorities you chose and let them know what’s now available.

• Visit with the local newspaper editor: talk about his perception of life in the community.

• Discuss possibilities of a library column, library supplement.

• Advertise in community supplements.

• The library director must spend at least 10% of work time outside the library building . . .

  • Begin to attend city/county and economic development committee meetings regularly.

  • Library should join the Chamber of Commerce then attend meetings.

  • Gather information about community development projects.

  • Get on the mailing list for local government notices, minutes, etc.

  • Review the 25 Ways Your Library Can Support Small Business [SERVICES & PROGRAMS]

• Establish a Job Seekers Information Center and/or a Business Information Center at the library, in the chamber of commerce office and/or the cooperative extension office.

• Develop a working relationship with the County Extension agents.

• Distribute Extension publications in the library.

• Visit a large book store and browse through its organization carefully.

  • Find another library director or retailer to visit: complete the Checklist for Image audit [FACILITIES], especially checking signage and overcrowded shelves.

  • Take steps to make the needed changes and improve signage – external and internal.

  • Take a dated inventory of your collection . . . weed ruthlessly as you go.

  • Use The CREW Method [COLLECTION MANAGEMENT].

• Determine “What is our Library?”

  • Read about the previous Library Journal’s Best Small Library winners. 2012 Award: [Link]

  • 2016 Award: [Link]

  • Best small library past awards: [Link]

• Read ICMA’s Strategies for Public Libraries [STRATEGIC PLANNING].

• Read Aspen - Rising to the Challenge 2014 Report [STRATEGIC PLANNING].

• Read Aspen - Action Guide for Re-envisioning [Jan 2016] [STRATEGIC PLANNING].

• Read Re-Envisioning Public Libraries

• Create a Vision Statement (how library wishes to be perceived by the public – what it wants to become).

• Write a Mission Statement (defines the purpose, library’s reason for being in business)

• Develop a Marketing Plan.

  • Read Marketing the Small Library (Kansas) [MARKETING & PUBLIC RELATIONS].

  • Develop a Customer Service Statement.

  • Design an identifying logo and tagline (a branding statement that captures in a few words the essence of your library service): type “rural library logos” or “public library logos” into Google Images search box.

  • Have coordinating stationary and business cards printed.

  • Develop “elevator talk(s)” (less than a minute) about happenings/services at the library.

> “If you can’t explain it simply, you don’t understand it well enough.” - Albert Einstein

  • Make your restrooms sparkle. “I am serious that this is an idea to improve a dealer’s (or any retail business’s) profitability.” - John Wyckoff

  • Offer library cards to non-residents who work in the community.

  • Remember Will Rogers’ admonition: “Get someone else to blow your horn and the sound will carry twice as far.”

• Create a brochure and bookmark about library services, location, hours, and staff.

• Provide service brochure for new customers - provide library info for welcome wagon.

• Check “library clip art” in Google Images search box.

• Determine other spots in the community where brochure could be left for pick-up.
(Join a co-op for) Purchase and rotation of audio books and use of e-books: “eBooks are not the future, they are the now.”

- Read E-book Business Models for Public Libraries (ALA) [FINANCES]

- Hire a technology coordinator – preferably a sixth grader.
  - Install an automated system for holdings search, reserves by computer.
  - Develop a web page, preferably connected with local government. Check: Building the Digital Branch: Guidelines to Transform Your Website by David Lee King, Library Technology Reports. Developing a Library Web Site.docx
  - Review this TechSoup webinar: Library Websites on a Budget.
  - Check with local schools about computer use and training.
  - Include the Kansas Digital Book eLending, Kansas Online Databases, Talking Books, C-SPAN’s BOOK-TV, National Institutes for Health as links on your web site.
  - Go wireless inside the library building.
  - Purchase iPads, ebook readers, and video players (PlayAways) for lending.
  - Establish Facebook and Twitter pages, but only if you have a steady monitor.
  - Create a video about the library for YouTube: samples of videos.

- Review Recommended Websites for Research and Reference Resource Center (Tennessee) [COLLECTION MANAGEMENT].

- Prepare pathfinders or information kits on hot topics: local community projects, genealogy, local history, local agency resources, business resources.
  - Check out the over 430,000 guides in the LibGuides Community.
  - Check the resources in the Internet Public Library (not being updated).
  - Review resources available through the Digital Public Library of America.

- Sponsor a “Love My Library” or “Our Library is - ” promotion and ask customers (or just kids) to write down what they love about the library on a heart or posterboard. Post the hearts everywhere.

- Allow food and drink (make sure you use lids for the drinks).
- Set up coffee, tea brewing (even iced) area.
- Make sure you add more trash cans around the library when you allow food and drink.
- Install vending machines.
- All staff should wear name tags - using a lanyard or magnetic back.
- Allow videos to be returned in book drop.
- Involve customers in selection.
  - Purchase The Book Page for public distribution.
- Install a drive-up window to return and check-out materials.
- And always keep in mind Maya Angelou’s words: “I’ve learned that people will forget what you said, people will forget what you did, but people will never forget how you made them feel.”
